ABSTRACT

Intended for the use of teachers or diagnosticians, this booklet presents charts that list various phonic patterns, word families, or "rimes" associated with specific vowel patterns. Lists in the booklet are arranged according to the 14 basic vowel phonemes in English (including long a, long e, long i, long aw, short ah, and short u). The r-controlled vowels in the booklet are listed separately under the vowel associated with it. (RS)

What is AVKO?

AVKO is a non-profit tax-exempt membership organization founded in 1974 that is:

- subsidized by donations and grants.
- open to membership to anyone interested in helping others learn to read and write.
- run by members from as far away as Hawaii and Quebec and whose daily operations are handled by volunteers.
- planning to build and operate a model reading research center in a YEAR-AROUND camp setting that would economically and efficiently service the needs of dyslexics of all ages.
- trying to spread the concept that parent and spouse tutoring in spelling/reading skills can be successfully taught in adult community education classes and that members of a problem reader's support group can greatly assist the efforts of any volunteer tutor working in the literacy movement.
- providing newsletters and economical opportunities to pursue individual research projects and to take part in large scale cooperative research projects that have immediate practical applications.
- attempting to accomplish these goals primarily through the profits generated by the inservices, workshops and the sale of materials developed for the special needs of students, parents, and adults – but AVKO still needs donations to survive.

An Index of Phonic Patterns by Vowel Types

The following charts list various phonic patterns, word families, or rimes (the latest jargon) associated with specific vowel patterns. To make it as easy as possible for a teacher or diagnostician to use, we have a basic list of the more common patterns arranged according to the basic fourteen vowel phonemes in English: Long A, Long E, Long I, Long O, Long OO, Long OW, Long AW, Long OY, Short uu (put book), Short A, Short E, Short I, Short AH, Short U (cut). The R-Controlled vowels are listed separately under the vowel commonly associated with it. For example, the -air pattern is listed under the long A even though the vowel sound technically is closer to that of the Short E. The reason is because the ai pattern as well as the Vce pattern using the letters A, R, and E as in dare, visually relate to Long Vowels.

Using The Patterns of English Spelling as a guide, the vowel patterns were listed in each of the fourteen charts primarily by similar groups such as Vce, Vvc, CVC,

We list sample words first, so that the lists can be used diagnostically-prescriptively. We also list the page in The Patterns of English Spelling on which the complete listing of words with the particular target pattern can be found. If your school library does not have a copy, you can order one from the AVKO Foundation, 3084 W. Willard Road, Clio, MI 48420-7801. Telephone: (810) 686-9283. FAX (810) 686-1101
